From the Pastor Working Church, Real Church

Coming together is a beginning. Keeping together is progress.
Working together is success. - Henry Ford

Automotive giant Henry Ford may have had the auto industry in mind when he made the above observation, but what he said applies to church equally as well. Yes, just coming together is good. Hanging in there with each other is better. But working together is the true test of our reason for being God's people. Our youth find this out when they go on a mission project: it's easy to sit in a group to talk and pray, but try building or repairing something as a group to find out what real teamwork is all about.

Where are you in the Kingdom's work? Are you only an attender? Do you flit in and out of the group when you feel like it, or when you don't have anything better to do? Or are you fully engaged in some form of ministry and working with others to make it happen?

The strength of the team is each individual member...the strength of each member is the team. - Phil Jackson, coach of Chicago Bulls

In His love,
Lee
