Quotes for Today

The white light streams down to be broken up by those human prisms into all the colors of the rainbow. Take your own color in the pattern and be just that.

-- Charles R. Brown

If my ship sails from sight, it doesn't mean my journey ends; it simply means the river bends. - John Enoch Powell

The brick walls are not there to keep us out; the brick walls are there to give us a chance to show how badly we want something. -- Randy Pausch

From the Pastor

Slow Down, Know God

Having gone several years with little or no snow, I guess we were due for such big storms as hit us late December and last Saturday. Funny how a deep snow can be both a beautiful sight and a big headache at the same time. – As you already know, a missed Sunday has a big impact on church contributions, so please make every effort to give as fully as you have planned. You did a great job making up that lost Sunday in December.

Someone I was talking to wondered if God doesn't use a big snow like this to knock us off our stride and make us think about what we are doing and why. A break from work or school is nice, and for many it's an opportunity to rest. “Be still and know that I am God,” says the Lord in the Bible. Being still and remaining clueless is pointless. The “knowing God” part is essential.

Let's pay attention to Him, whether life is frenzied and frantic, or whether it is as calm as a farm pond on a windless day.

Peace to you,

Lee
