The Society of St. Andrew (SoSA) collects food for food banks by volunteers gleaning; that is picking vegetables and fruits left after mechanized harvesting of local farms. Pepsi is running an online vote contest to award funds to the charitable projects that get the most votes. My 84-year old mother, Mary E. Rountrey, is a volunteer and has spent many hours in the summer heat gleaning from central Virginia farms. So, if you would like to help, please go the Society's web site www.endhunger.org to learn about SoSA, and click on the Pepsi Refresh Project button. You will be taken directly to SoSA's listing, where you can vote once each day throughout September. Thanks for your help! – Kitty Snow

New & Updated Prayer Concerns...

- Burley Spivey, the Laurels of Willow Creek, 510
- Eddie O'Neill, Chippenham Hospital, ICU, serious health problems
- Charlie Brown, Felice Hall's great uncle in Cullman, AL, diagnosed with bone marrow cancer

If you know other prayer concerns we can share, please send a note to ellisonmhbc@aol.com. Thanks for praying for these people today.

Notes of appreciation...

I would like to take this time to thank Lee for all of his support during my Mother's illness and the support he continues to provide our family. The service was exactly what my Mother would have asked for. My thanks to our Mount Hermon Church family for attending the family visitation. The many cards with kind, uplifting words of encouragement are still coming in and are a blessing every day. Everyone did exactly what Terry, Kim, Lindsey and I needed at a very difficult time and this note of appreciation does not begin to express the magnitude of the impact everyone at Mount Hermon has on our family. Thank you all very much.

– Don Bowman & family

Burley & Nancy Spivey continue to appreciate all of your prayers for Burley during his time of recovery. Your cards, calls, and concern mean so much. He is making progress, but still has a long way to go.

From the Pastor... Please be a minister, too

The pastor or the full-time staff minister of a church may not necessarily be the most intelligent person in any given congregation; nor might he/she be the most spiritual or insightful. The talents and abilities God has placed in His people are enormous and varied and not at all confined to the lives of professional ministers.

One thing full-time ministry people do have, though, is the ability to concentrate more fully on God, His people, and caring for others in the name of Christ. It's my job, and I am grateful to be able to focus on such important purposes and tasks.

Many pastors are bi-vocational: they work a secular job and pastor a church. They are to be admired and appreciated, for sure. And I suspect many of them would love to be able to have both feet in one rowboat instead of two.

God calls everyone to some type of service for the Kingdom. I'm glad He called me to my tasks. You are a great church, and I love you. I just pray that you are using your talents for God now and not waiting to get started some time in the future. All we have is today. Don't waste your gifts or miss out on the blessings that come from doing God's will.

Happy to be serving with you,

Lee
